The pictures for Monday and Tuesday were great, and the set on hand for Wednesday and Thursday are fully as good, if not better. The feature subject for Thursday is 1911's most spectacular picture, entitled The Vote That Counted, a Thanhouser feature dealing with the kidnapping of a senator from a Pullman car. Other subjects are The Childhood of Jack Harkaway, by the Thanhouser company, and A Fateful Gift, a Solax special.

POLI'S THEATER.

"Charley's Aunt" is straining the buttons on the clothing of the crowds that are attending at every performance, and all agree that it is the most reamingly funny comedy the Poli Players have yet attempted. The sale for the rest of the week is big, and that means enjoyment, for the bigger the audience the harder they laugh. For next week "The Village Postmaster" already has everyone talking, and the banner week of all is expected. There is something novel and surprising in every act, the first being the scene where the village band is caught in a rain storm of real water. The seca rain storm of real water. The secnd is a social gathering at the home the minister and the donation part, where the neighbors indulge in ames and pastimes. The third is the Lieutenant Scott's Narrow Escape is the powerful feature picture for the Breed for the remainder of the week, and tells of the young lieutenant, who becomes fascinated with a pretty Indian maid, and wandering for a walk with her, leaves his horse untethered, and his revolver hanging on the saddle. A passing Indian, seeing the revolver, examines it, and it goes off unexpectedly, killing him. The shot recalls Lieutenant Scott, as well as the halance of the tribe, who naturally think that their fellow tribesman has been killed by the officer. An uprising takes place and the lieutenant is captured and saved from being burned at the stake by the perilous riding and bravery of Yellow Moon, the little maiden who fascinated him earlier in the picture. picture. ie big picture of the soap factor.

Incidentally the report brings out her interesting information regarding e company. It will probably come as surprise to many of our readers that to Metropolitan is not only the leader company in industrial insurance, it that during the last year it wrote actically $150,000,000 ordinary insurance, the maximum permitted by the extra that the maximum permitted by the extra the maximum permitted by the extra the maximum permitted by the part primarily an industrial company this is a restable showing. The blood needs nourishment to carry vigor, vim and vitality to every part of the body, and when food fer-ments in the stomach enough nourish-ment is not supplied.

MI.O.NA stomach tablets give instant relief to upset stomachs, but they do more; they put strength into the stomach and build it up so that it can easily digest a hearty meal without giving its owner hours of misery. Summarizing his conclusions, Superintendent Hotchkiss expresses his belief that industrial insurance with mremiums payable weekly to collectors belief that industrial insurance with premiums payable weekly to collectors is a necessity for the industrial masses and that such insurance must be furnished either by private corporations or by the state. In his opinion, however, the state is not ready to assume such a burden. We can readily believe that under the leadership of companies like the Metropolitan, as shown by Mr. Hotchkiss' report, industrial insurance is in safe hands, and its further development can wisely be left to such companies.
